

SIMPLE PSYCHOPATHY CHECKLIST

- Look for the signs of psychopathy in his personality. Narrowing down the focus for the investigation is important since no one has unlimited time and resources. Which suspects does one focus on? You don't need a college degree in psychology to understand this aberrant personality. A psychopath has noticeable behaviors if you know what to look for. Again, it is in the history that more of the behavior will be noted.

- 1) Pathological liar – He is simply put, a lying dog. He breathes, he lies. He lies for no apparent reason. Sometimes it just humors him. He knows he is lying and will change the story if it doesn't work. Then he will come up with another lie for why he lied.

- 2) Manipulative – He have practiced this for a lifetime. He uses people. If folks don't serve a purpose to him, he ignores them, avoids them, dumps them, or kills 'em. He could care less about other people. The only one in the universe of importance to a psychopath is himself.

- 3) No conscience – He simply doesn't feel bad about anything. No guilt, no remorse. Nothing.

- 4) A sense of entitlement – He should have it. You shouldn't. He is always right. You are always wrong. It is never his fault.

For a quick review, look for a manipulative, arrogant, lying SOB who is trying to snow you.
